

Camille Harper is about to turn eighteen, and for as long as she can remember, she's seen angels. She wants to accomplish something great, but she isn't sure where these otherworldly beings fit in. One day, Camille witnesses something that even she hasn't seen before - two angels fighting. She throws a rock at the one with dark wings, but that accomplishes nothing. She tries forgetting about the disturbing incident so she can focus on school and her favorite subject - art. But Camille's thoughts turn to romance when she meets a mysterious young man named Jason Waters at a community fair. Jason is different than other men his age, and Camille believes him to be an angel. But Jason has some competition. Another young man who just arrived at Camille's school wants her for his own. Earl Mead is trying to blend in with everyone else, but it seems fake, and Camille can't figure out why. Join Camille as she interacts with angels and the evil that surrounds them. She seeks to understand her own role in an ancient battle in Eternal Embrace.
